

To Whom It May Concern,

Unsolicited telephone intrusion is an invasion of privacy. These calls interrupt a family meal. They cause a sleeping infant to cry. This type of intrusion can block a life-saving link. The message is always useless, often unscrupulous and sometimes illegal. Give us a break.

Sincerely,
Michael Dobias